

QUALITY POLICY

Quality

- Tranos is committed to providing quality products and services that meet or exceed customer expectations and adhere to all statutory and regulatory requirements as well as industry codes and best practice, as they apply to our activities, while maintaining quality management systems that provide the framework for our continued success.
- Our quest for quality is backed by a companywide drive for continuous improvement to ensure that we perform better with the passage of time at offering our products and services.
- We believe that as an engineering, fabrication and manufacturing company, our members of staff must always be equipped with the right work tools and ensure that the right tool is used for each task.
- We believe that the competence of our workers is of utmost importance, and we therefore ensure that the right people with the right training and experience are employed for tasks.
- We also ensure that our members of staff are continuously trained on the job to improve their competences.
- We expect the delivery of quality products and services to be engrained in the fabric of our organization, and we have therefore put in place a quality management system that will ensure that all products and services that Tranos provides are of the highest quality obtainable worldwide.
- As part of our continuous improvement drive, our quality objectives will be reviewed annually, and updated in-line with our achievements, developments in our environment and to ensure continual suitability with our products and service offerings.
- The policy will be regularly reviewed for continuing suitability to ensure that it continues to be appropriate and in line with business needs.
